Paimon's character design is quite unique as she is small, has wings and has a halo like crown on the top of her head which somewhat hints she is someone of a greater existence.

I like Spongebob's bright expressions. I find his design to be amusing since he is a sponge and all of his friends minus Sandy are sea creatures.

1.5

I find this cat-like creature from Kingdom Hearts to be cute. The pink purse and the cape just adds more to its overall charm. I would imagine, this would be a great plush toy.

As a kid, I played the Heroes of Might and Magic 3 and I always found this beholder scary to look at because it felt as though it was some abomination created from a mad science experiment.

2.2

One of the most iconic villains in anime. His facial expressions greatly contrasts with his small stature. Frieza's pose makes him smug, confident and arrogant and has the power to back it up.

A character from the Persona series. What stands out is his long nose and his round eyes. Despite his appearance, he does give off the impression that he is somewhat sophisticated since he wears a formal attire.

6. Racer Snail

↓
Designed this with the idea of making the snail move fast.

7. Bee with glasses

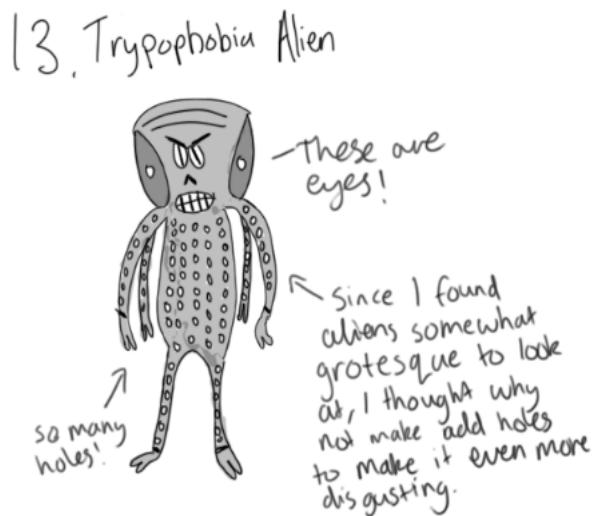

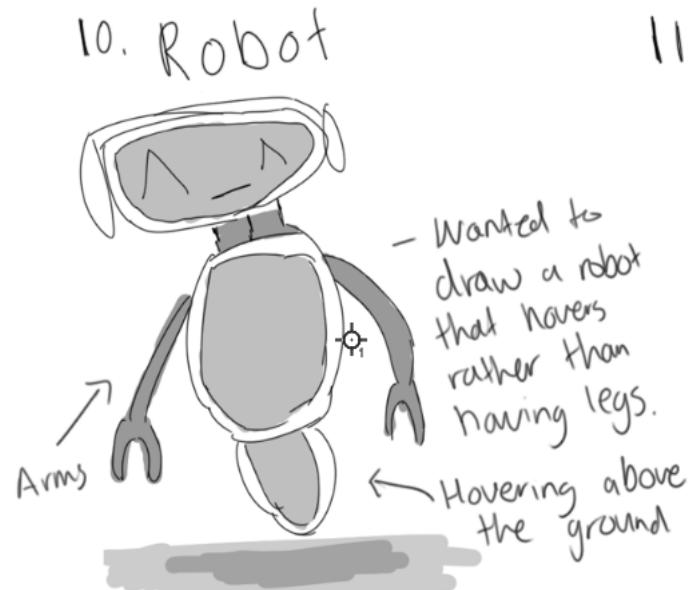

↓
Added glasses and a blush to make it stand out

8. Dragon Boxer

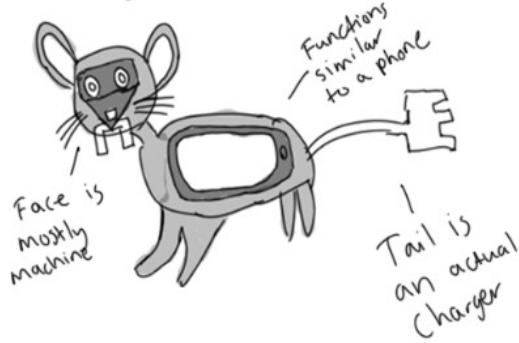

↓
Had the idea of a dragon training to become strong

Like how the pose of the paw makes it look cute and the wink adds to the overall appeal of the design.

The most iconic Pokemon appeals greatly to me is that its simply cute. It's difficult to exactly put it into words but the the colour scheme, red cheeks and the expressions it gives off makes most people want to grab it and play with it.

Totoro design appeals to me for variety of reasons; one it is very tall and second, it is quite round. Additionally, he somewhat has the characteristics of both a cat and an owl.

What stands out about this character is how fluffy it is and how big its ears are. Also, what stands out is the piece of cloth it is wearing.

3.43.3*2.3

What sticks out is the blue cap he is wearing on top of his pink hat and the metal plate that is attached on his antler. What also appeals is how he is able to walk on two legs despite being a reindeer.
